“Although most people would have written me off as a lost cause, Linbrooke has helped me to help myself. My life has been changed forever because of this service and I intend to work as hard as I can to prove my worth.”

RHYS HAWKEY

Name: Rhys Hawkey

Job Title: Telecoms Engineer

Joined Linbrooke: April 2015

Career Background

Having completed his 6 years of overseas service in the Royal Regiment of Fusiliers, 2RRF, Rhys found himself struggling to integrate back into civilian life.

With no job or home to return to, rapidly depleting funds and diminutive direction, he commenced travelling the nation, searching for work and a livelihood he could be proud of. Rendered homeless by circumstance, Rhys was later discovered and supported by the charity, ‘Help for Homeless Veterans’ who pledged to assist him with his endeavours.

Training courses attended

With a determination to succeed and a proclivity for both technology and perpetual dedication, Rhys undertook the City and Guilds telecoms and cabling 3667 course at our National Training Academy (NTA) at the beginning of 2015.

With funding secured for him philanthropically, he studied intensely and completed the telecoms engineering courses with a combined 98% - ensuring him the top position within his group.

Why Linbrooke?

After being contacted by the 'Help for Homeless Veterans' charity on Rhys' behalf, Linbrooke provided him with the opportunity to train in our National Training Academy (NTA).

Grasping this opportunity with both hands, Rhys devoted himself to the course and the company who had recognised his potential during a time of adversity.

Linbrooke Career

Exhibiting the military honed lifestyle of working to meet goals and continually striving to 'be the best', he was swiftly hired as a sub-contractor to Linbrooke Services, where he was supervised for 3 months by a group mentor.

Verifying his value, Rhys was permanently employed as a telecoms engineer by Linbrooke in April 2015 where he has since been engaged on a prestigious project in Paddington, London.

Would you recommend Linbrooke Services / ntrs to others?

Experiencing the altruism and quality driven ethos of both Linbrooke and ntrs, Rhys stated that:

"I have already recommended Linbrooke to anyone I come across who may be interested. Being a part of this company has really allowed me to re-experience the unity that is so rife in the military."
